MT. SINAI CHARITY BALL

Annual Ball Held Last Night at the Academy of Music a Great Success.

Quite the most beautiful ball ever given for the benefit of the Mount Sinai Hospital was held last night at the Academy of Music. The Board of Managers certainly spared no effort in making the decorations the most wonderful the ball has ever had.

One of the new features this year was the opening of the ball. Instead of the grand march, which has been in effect for many a season, the ball was opened by the stately dancing of the old minuet, which, with all its grace and charm, is a marked contrast to the dance of today.

The Academy floor and stage transported the beholder into an out-of-door spring day, as the decorations were garlands and sprays of exquisite spring flowers, jonquils, narcissi, daisies, azaleas, lilacs, and great cydonium trees vied with one another in adding beauty to the scene.

The corridors were transformed into lovers' walks of greenery and exquisite blooms, and the stage proper was in the form of an old-fashioned garden, with narrow walks and delightful old-fashioned plants. The proscenium boxes and smaller ones were also entwined with smilax and ferns.

A concert started the affair, which was followed by the dancing of the minuet in the costumes of 1830.

The minuet was danced under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Snellenburg, Mrs. Jules E. Mastbaum and Mrs. Milton Herold. The members of the set were Miss Mildred Singer, Miss Rosalie Dannenbaum, Miss Rose Hirsch, Miss Edith Lieberman, Miss Aline Sell, Miss Charlotte Feustbach, Miss Elizabeth Solla, Miss Ruth Steinbach, Mr. Horace Horner, Mr. Stanley Snellenburg, Mr. Walter Steppacher, Mr. Frank Wieder, Mr. Henry Lang, Mr. Harold Wimpfheimer and Mr. Henry Coons.

Immediately following this feature general dancing was formally opened by Mr. and Mrs. David Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Lit and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Herold.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Lit, Mrs. D. Leon Efron, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Gittelson, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gerson, Mrs. Clarence K. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snellenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Blum, Mr. John Lit, Jr., Mrs. Frederick Gerson, Mr. and Mrs. David Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Seltzer, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Travis, Mrs. Jacob Cartun, Miss Yetta Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W.
